

T SERIES

Heavy Duty Tube Laser Cutter

HSG T SERIES

The HSG T Series Tube Laser Cutting Machines are equipped with a high-performance laser source, allowing for precise and efficient cutting of tubes and profiles. With an advanced control system, they offer exceptional accuracy and repeatability, making them ideal for industrial applications. The T Series are designed for maximum productivity, with high-speed cutting capabilities and minimal downtime.

FEATURES

Movable Triple Chuck

The T Series features square and round chucks handling up to 600kg and tubes from 20mm to 350mm. Its dual front and single rear chuck design boosts load capacity, while the C3 hollow and movable three-chuck structure enable full-length cutting with minimal vibration and tail material.

Photoelectric Loading Detection

Advanced photoelectric detection accurately identifies the size, shape, and position of each tube, enabling precise clamping by the chuck. Through real-time monitoring and feedback, the system dynamically adjusts equipment status, ensuring stable, reliable, and fully automated processing.

Servo Follow-up Support

The 9m loading bed uses independent, high-sensitivity servo follow-up support for strong reinforcement and precise horizontal cutting of heavy tubes. The 6m unloading bed also features servo follow-up support, integrated with an intelligent unloading system for smooth blanking of tubes up to 6m long.

Automatic Loading (Optional)

An optional multi-functional loading system supports automatic loading of round tubes, rectangular tubes, section steel, and other profiles—enhancing loading speed and overall efficiency.

HSG-X Control System

HSG-X control system is bus-based and developed by HSG Laser. With intelligent and easy-to-operate service, it can offer users effective solutions to address problems of difficult operation, low efficiency and high costs.

Intelligent Bus Operating System

The system offers a range of auxiliary functions to meet diverse processing needs. Additionally, the T Series features professional nesting software, facilitating efficient management of production progress and accurate price calculations.
